The student-run Gamer Symphony Orchestra is the first collegiate ensemble exclusively devoted to performing orchestral arrangements of video game music and using that music as an educational tool. We now boast a roster of over 100 musicians, including 30 singers, and have, two years in a row, played to packed houses at the university's largest performing arts venue, the 1,100-seat DeKelbourn Concert Hall, and collaborated with Video Games Live on their performance of two of our arrangements at the Strathmore in Bethesda!

How are we doing?

We love getting feedback from our fans! Please feel free to fill out this form and drop it in the "Question Block" on your way out. Got other comments or questions? Interested in starting your own GSO? E-mail us at umd@gamersymphony.org.

The GSO is partially funded by the Student Government Association, but most of our operating costs are covered by donations by members and fans. Please scan the QR Code above with any QR Scanner App on your smartphone to make a tax-deductible donation through the "Giving to Maryland" program - no account is needed, simply enter your amount, anonymous status, and follow the prompts to make a gift without creating an account. These donations help us to continue providing our free concerts, and are used toward getting rehearsal space and instrument care for our members, among other expenses. The "Giving to Maryland Program" is also accessible at GSO's website (<http://umd.gamersymphony.org/>).

Checks made out to UMD College Park Foundation (with Gamer Symphony Orchestra written on the memo line) qualify as tax-deductible charitable gifts*!

How did you hear about the Gamer Symphony Orchestra?

What arrangements would you like to hear from GSO? Do you have other comments about our performance?

Please write down your e-mail address if you would like to receive message about future GSO concerts and events (about three per semester). Please print legibly!
