About the Gamer Symphony Orchestra and Chorus

In the fall of 2005, student violist Michelle Eng sought to create an orchestral group that played video game music. With a half-dozen others from the University of Maryland Repertoire Orchestra, she founded GSO to achieve that dream. By the time of the ensemble’s first public performance in spring 2006, its size had quadrupled.

Today GSO provides a musical and social outlet to 120 members. It is the world’s first college-level ensemble to draw its repertoire exclusively from the soundtracks of video games. The ensemble is entirely student run, which includes conducting and musical arranging.

In February GSO had a special role at the Video Games Live performances at the Strathmore in Bethesda, Md. The National Philharmonic performed GSO’s arrangement of “Korobeiniki” from Tetris to two sold-out houses.

Aside from its concerts, GSO also holds the “Deathmatch for Charity” every spring. All proceeds from this video game tournament benefit Children’s National Medical Center in Washington, D.C.

GSO has also fostered the creation of two similar high school-level ensembles in Rockville, Md., and Damascus, Md. The Magruder High School GSO was founded late in 2008 and the Damascus High School GSO began rehearsals this February.

Concert Program

Towards the Stars
composed by Mahito Yokota, Koji Kondo; Naoto Tanaka; Nobuo Uematsu arrangement by Chris Apple
featured soloists: Kira Levitzky, flute; Jacob Coppage-Gross, piano

This arrangement is meant to signify the flute's role within the video game music world. This medley of three different works demonstrates various styles of music present in video games and only contains songs which either feature the flute or a flute-like synthesized sound within the video game.

The first piece is The Comet Waltz from Super Mario Galaxy. The piece is meant to represent Princess Rosalina, who left her home one day to travel to outer space with star-shaped creatures called Luma. She has lived in a space station for centuries since she cannot set foot on land. Every 100 years she returns to orbit her home planet and lovingly look down on it from space.

The second piece is Commander Yammark's theme from Mega Man X6. He is a dragonfly-humanoid that is able to control dragonflies and send them on the attack.

The third piece is Cosmo Canyon from Final Fantasy VII. The canyon is an area where one can commune with nature and the planet. One of the characters was born there, and his father died there when he was a child. This character can get very close to the spirits of the dead in this sacred place, but not quite close enough to speak to them.

Fate of the Unknown
composed by Yoko Shimomura
Kingdom Hearts II: Final Mix (2010)
arrangement by Katie Noble

"Fate of the Unknown" is probably most widely recognized as the soundtrack to the secret trailer for Kingdom Hearts: Birth by Sleep, which can be seen only after defeating Kingdom Hearts II: Final Mix under certain circumstances. The trailer shows the climax of each of the three possible stories in Birth by Sleep. The accompanying music beautifully depicts the misguided determination of Terra, the anguish of Ven and the solemnity of Aqua. The final seconds of the piece build up to what will become a long and trying journey for a young boy living on a cluster of Destiny Islands...
Lyrics and Translation:

kare no na o kike shisha mo mezameru
chi mo namida mo nagarenu aku no keshin
donna akuma de mo hadaka de nigemadou

sono na mo Rahāru-sama

Upon hearing his name, even the dead will awaken.
He's an embodiment of evil, which sheds neither blood nor tears.
Any demon will run from him naked in fear and confusion.

That name, is Lord Laharl.

Laharl-sama no Sanbika
Composed by Tenpei Sato, Lyrics by Sohei Niikawa
Disgaea: Hour of Darkness (2003) Arrangement by Michelle Eng and Christopher Lee Translation by Xiaobo Tang
Mezzo-Soprano Solo performed by Diana Bestul-Taylor and Jasmine Bestul-Taylor

Laharl, the heir to the overlord of the netherworld, awakens to find his father dead and his vassals gone, trying to take over the throne. He sets out to take back what is rightfully his by proving that he is the strongest demon of the netherworld, but not without learning the true meaning of love!
As an ode to the demon, we welcome the two ladies who will be taking us on a journey through Laharl's antics in this mischievously evil yet mocking piece. Laharl has also demanded that he become the main character of this concert, but that was foiled by the actual main characters.

"hikaeyo monodomo"

mi no ke yodatsu, mashi no koshin
darem o tomeraren
kuraki michi o kiyoku tadashiku
chimimoryō to chōryōbakk
aku no hanamichi eien nare

A noble prince who controls the demon world, and the gods' archenemy.
People kneel in front of him begging for life.

"Know your place! Underlings!!"

His demonic parade makes people's body hairs stand.
He can be stopped by no one.
He marches on the dark path nobly and righteously with all sorts of demons and rampant domination.
The stage platform of evil shall be eternal.

He's an elite of evil admired by all.
He's a role model who doesn't wash his hands after using the toilet.
His favorite hobby is playing with fire and laughing wildly in the dead of the night.

That name, is Lord Laharl.

mi no ke yodatsu, mashi no koshin
darem o tomeraren
kuraki michi o kiyoku tadashiku
chimimoryō to chōryōbakk
aku no hanamichi

He carried out countless evil deeds, number one in the demon world.
His favorite words are "atrocities," "insolence," and "good children's idol."

His demonic parade makes people's body hairs stand.
He can be stopped by no one.
He marches on the dark path nobly and righteously with all sorts of demons and rampant domination; a stage platform of evil.

Let everything in this world be engulfed by darkness.
Nobody can disobey him.
He turns dreams and hopes into nightmares.
He's a dark hero who crushes those that befriend justice.

aku no ikizama eien nare

His evil ways of life shall be eternal.
Civilization V
Composed by Geoff Knorr and Michael Curran
Civilization V (2010)
Arrangement by Geoff Knorr and Chris Apple

From humble beginnings to the present day and beyond, Civilization's soundtrack navigates thousands of years of human history. The game features dozens of songs which celebrate numerous cultures, many of the melodies and themes based on real traditional music. This arrangement is a reflection of that incredible diversity. Sung in four languages (Farsi, Russian, English and Gaelic), this piece follows the peoples of the world through times of peace and conquest, and tells the story of how we are all connected.

Star Fox Credits
Composed by Hajime Hirasawa
Star Fox (1993)
Arrangement by Gerald Tagunicar and VGMusic.com

Star Fox is the first video game that uses the Super FX chip technology, which displays 3D polygon graphics. The game revolves around Fox McCloud, who pilots a spacecraft called an Arwing. He is accompanied by his teammates, Peppy, Slippy, and Falco to fend off the army of Andross, the main antagonist. The arrangement is played after defeating Andross, so listen for themes of victory, celebration, and the unknown that is outer space. P.S. Do a barrel roll!

15-Minute Intermission

Sea Breeze
Composed by Sergei Mantis (aka Noriko Hibino)
Arrangement by Kyle Jamolin
Featured Soloists: Darrell Schaeffer, guitar; Maryann Moses, guitar; Kyle Jamolin, piano; Gerald Tagunicar, bass guitar; Eden Davis, drums

Oh, Buta-Mask

Composed by Shogo Sakai
Mother 3 (2006)
Arrangement by Christopher Lee

“Oh, Buta-Mask!”, "Buta", meaning "Pig" in Japanese, is composed of two battle themes from Mother 3. The first theme is the “Pig March,” the “Pigmask Battle Theme,” and the second theme is “Unfounded Revenge,” one of the many boss themes and is also used in Super Smash Bros. Brawl.

---

Metal Gear Solid Medley

Composed by Harry Gregson-Williams, et al.
Arrangement by Gerald Tagunicar

The main protagonist, Solid Snake, is a Special Forces stealth operative who repeatedly faces super-weapons of mass destruction, known as Metal Gear. Listen for heroic, sneaky, and adrenalin-pumped themes. The arrangement starts with the “Metal Gear Solid 2” main music, followed by a theme played when enemy soldiers discover Solid Snake’s presence. The “Metal Gear Solid 3” main theme appears next, followed by a jazzy-rendition of the main theme. The piece concludes with a James Bond-esque ending.

Shadow of the Colossus
Composed by Kow Otani
Shadow of the Colossus (2005)
Arrangement by Kira Levitzky, Lyrics by Diana Taylor

Wander's love has fallen unto the clutches of death. A god-like being promises Wander his love will return to life if he goes forth and slays the 16 colossi spread across the landscape. As Wander searches and kills the Colossi in order to try to resurrect his love, fiercely awesome music plays in the background. The beginning part of this arrangement focuses on the ethereal choral-heavy title and credit sequence music while the battle music provides an energetic representation of the music from this award winning game.

Pokémedley
Composed by Junichi Masuda, John Loeffler, et al.
Pokémon Red and Blue (1998), Pokémon Black and White (2011),
Pokémon: Indigo League (TV series, 1998)
Arrangement by Douglas Eber, Robert Garner, Christopher Lee

NEW POKÉDEX ENTRY: POKÉMEDLEY
Successful trainers must be cunning, determined, and downright lucky to capture even a small sampling of the hundreds of different Pokémon species. Only then can they have any hope of becoming Pokémon masters. GSO’s musical interpretation reflects the excitement of this wildly successful game franchise, which got its start in Japan in 1996. The medley tells the story of an aspiring trainer’s first Pokémon catch and eventual battle with despised rival (and generally unpleasant person) Gary Oak. How many melodies can you pick out? Gotta catch ’em all!
